19 Persons Killed By Acid Smog

600 Are Stricken In Pennsylvania Mill Centre

DONORA, Pa., Nov. 1.—(AP)—A "fog" of rain today dissipated the deadly cloud of smoke which settled over this Pennsylvania mill town over the week end, killing at least 19 persons. But doctors warned that an epidemic of pneumonia might follow in the wake of the disaster.

At least 50 of the 600 persons stricken were hospitalized at nearby East Charlestown and New Eagle. Five of those were in critical condition and were put into oxygen tents.

ADVISED TO LEAVE Several hundred persons, most of them elderly people with asthmatic or heart conditions, were advised to leave the city until the smog cleared up entirely. Most of those who did were between 60 and 75 years old. All had chronic asthmatic and heart conditions, Corner L. C. Gray said.

Dr. William Rousau, a member of the Donora board of health, blamed the death-dealing smog on poisonous gases from the American Steel and Wire Company's zinc plant.

"I feel certain that the gases from the zinc works are responsible for it," Dr. Rousau said. "It's not just a fog. It's plain murder. These people were murdered."

FORMS SULPHURIC ACID He said the zinc works gives off sulphur dioxide and when this is mixed with moist fog it forms sulphuric acid.

"When breathed into the lungs, it causes people to die," he said. "Officials said the smog was trapped over the city by layers of cold air which prevented the poisonous gases from escaping into the atmosphere."

The zinc works, the city's principal industry, halted smelting operations today but the rain apparently washed the deadly gases away.

There was no difficulty in breathing and Elizabeth Overlander, secretary of the board of health, said calls for aid halted as soon as the rain began to fall yesterday.

BEG FOR DOCTORS "The last two days were like a nightmare," she said, and with all those calls coming in from people begging for doctors, I tried to get in touch with the doctors to send them where I thought they were needed the most."

"The fog continued to hang over Donora today but the rain apparently washed the deadly gases away."

Happy Eileen Back With Ken Darling

By Harold Delany

Two tired but obviously happy young people had their long-thwarted dream come true at just past midnight Sunday when they stepped on to Edmonton's pavement from a big Winnipeg bus.

They were Edmonton sleight, Eileen Newham and British actress, Kenneth Darling, who had waited eight months for this moment.

Last February, Eileen left England with her family to settle in Edmonton and at the docks to see her off off her father, Darling, who intended to join his sweet heart in a month or two.

PLANS DELAYED But red tape and doubtful health, according to officials, frustrated his plans.

In desperation, the 26-year-old ship's waiter decided the liner Queen Mary a month ago at New York and three days later he was in a Canadian immigration custody for attempted illegal entry at Emerson, Man.

Fifteen minutes later the ecstatic pair boarded an Edmonton bus on their way to their new home.

To this reporter, when he met and talked to Darling, there was no doubt that Eileen would be an asset to this city.

In a sincere, straight-forward manner, the actor's young English wife, who was "home-free" to her Canada.

One Is Victim Of Knife Attack

Two men are in hospital today with serious injuries sustained in Saturday night brawl. One of the victims is believed to have a fractured skull, and the other was treated for knife slashes.

In police court this morning the two alleged assailants were remanded to next week without pleading to charges of causing serious bodily harm.

Police said the attacks took place at 1201 86 street and in front of 1043 5 street.

Police answering a call at 3:45 a.m. Sunday to the 85 street address found Richard Henderson, 25, Doyle hotel, shoe store worker, lying on the street with a gunshot.

He told police he had been in a fight, and was detained while they called for a doctor.

Police also arrested Henderson and Wagner had fought following a heated argument. Wagner was taken to hospital, where 12 stitches were taken in his face and body.

When Henderson charged Wagner after the latter had allegedly struck him across the face with a beer bottle Henderson said "I am going to kill you," police were told. When questioned by police who found him on the scene on early Sunday morning, Henderson allegedly said: "I had a fight with a guy up the street."

Police found no knife in Henderson's possession when he was arrested. The two attackers were remanded to 2:00 p.m. Sunday.

Henderson, generally known as "Ricky," was remanded to Nov. 8 when he appeared in court.

Truman and Dewey Prepare Final Appeals to Voters

By Clyde Blackburn

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(CP)—Eleven men who would be president of the United States say their final pieces tonight and tomorrow the voters make their choice of the man who will run the United States' business for the next four years.

On the two of the 11 nominated candidates are really contenders, President Truman and Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York. They will be on the anxious seat until the votes are counted early Wednesday morning.

TRUMAN SHOULD GET HIS VOTE "The other side I was dragged around a pole," he went on. "But, Judge, I was just resting. My feet, you know, are in a terrible condition. Please don't send me to jail. I want to be out on Tuesday so I can vote for Mr. Truman."

"The judge imposed a general suspended sentence," he said. "You can get needed medical attention for your feet," then added:

"Confidentially, I'm going to vote for Truman, too."

Imported Wines Down, Canadian Scotch Up

Good news for Alberta tipplers in these days of soaring prices is the announcement today by chairman A. J. Mason of the Alberta Liquor Control Board of price reductions, mostly in imported goods.

In releasing the new liquor price list, effective Nov. 1, 1948, he said: "Increased freight rates and the 'bottle-water' are not expected to increase much."

The rosy picture of price reductions is marred, however, by what he happened. Scotch type whisky, blended in Canada and sold to the public at 25c a bottle, has been reduced to 24c a bottle, while Canadian whisky, which has remained at the same level, is now 25c a bottle.

The more expensive beverages such as vermouth, imported wines and liquors show the sharpest reductions in price, due to devaluation of some European currencies and drops in customs duties.

Champagne is down 30c a bottle for Heidsieck's and a dollar for bottle for Mumm's, to $6.00 and $5.00 respectively, but orders for the "bottle-water" are not expected to increase much.

B.C. People Said Taking Secession Wismer Claims Freight Rates Differential Retards Growth

VANCOUVER, Nov. 1.—(CP)—Attorney-General Ross C. Wismer of British Columbia today charged that discriminatory freight rates are driving the people of B.C., in sentiment at least, out of confederation.

Before the Board of Transport Commissioners, Wismer opened the first full-scale battle against the so-called mountain differential in railway freight rates since 1922. He said the railways were discriminatory rates, but now, discriminatory rates had created a "mental attitude" of secession in B.C.

Mr. Wismer presented the application of the province for removal of the mountain rates. He said the freight differential has retarded the growth of the province and placed an undue burden on its people.

The board, headed by Mr. M. B. Archibald of Ottawa, will hear submissions by the province, boards of trade and industrial representatives. Freight carried across the mountains is charged 14 times the flat-rate rate. At standard class rates the cost of transportation in mountainous territory is 38 cents a hundredweight, compared to 10 cents on the flat.

The hearing, expected to last all week, will consider only the removal of the differential.

The smog settled over Donora and Webster, just across the Delaware river, Wednesday but it wasn't until Friday night that some of the worst effects of the fog were felt.

Allie Woodburn, 37, who has an asthmatic condition, said he felt uncomfortable as soon as the fog settled.

"On Friday it seemed to get worse and I started coughing," he said. "I coughed so hard I felt like somebody had hit me by the throat and was choking me to death."

He was taken to Memorial hospital, put under an oxygen tent and given a nebulizer treatment. He said he could breathe easier.

Truman, Dewey Ready Last Pleas

He told his hometown people, as he has told millions from coast to coast, that he is confident his Democratic party will retain its 16-year-old grasp of power on the White House. Public opinion polls have shown him of defeat.

DEWEY IN NEW YORK

Dewey is here today with his family to vote and to wait the results in a Manhattan hotel suite. He has remained calm and confident throughout his strenuous campaign.

Competing with the presidency for interest in "news" is the election in the United States are elections for 432 House of Representatives and 32 Senate seats as well as 32 gubernatorial.

If either the Democrats or Republicans, the major parties concerned, come out on top in a decisive fashion, the winning party will have established a strong lead in the political war of 1950 and 1952.

The prize plus aside from the presidency itself is control of the 81st Congress, which will convene next Jan. 3. This is the Congress that will start writing the record on which senatorial and congressional elections will be held in 1950.

That record inevitably will be a major issue in the presidential campaign of 1952.

GOP CONFIDENT

The Republicans are confident of victory in the House and hardly less so of breaking in the Senate. The present 4-4 government is expected to fall.

Democrats dispute both these claims, but their own predictions have to do with the Senate.

There are 32 Senate seats being filled this year, but that number includes one seat already won by the Republicans in Maine.

Republicans now control the Senate by a 51-45 margin, which means the Democrats need a net gain of four seats for control.

There are 48 candidates for the 32 seats involved in tomorrow's Senate vote—28 Republicans, 22 Democrats, 11 Progressives, eight Socialists, four Socialist-Labor, six Progressives, two Socialists, three Independents and one Independent.

432 HOUSE SEATS

Consisting for the 432 House seats (Maine elected three Republicans in September) are 311 Democrats, 418 Democrats and 173 minor party candidates.

The entire house of representatives' membership is elected this year. It is every two years. Republicans now are in control with 246 seats against 187 for the Democrats and two for the American Labor party.

The even political division in government is almost certain to be broken. Eighteen of the 32 governorships are in control with 18 by Republicans, 14 by Democrats.

"First," he said, "I want to get a job, either as a waiter, or something to do with commercial art."

"Then, as soon as my clothes and money arrive from England, Eileen and I will be married."

The young couple has set a tentative date of Dec. 22 for the long-awaited event. Until then, Darling has his own room at the little Newman home in the Highlands.

As for Eileen, she is completely absorbed in her future husband's plans. But to restore their financial situation, she intends to re-start to work.

"It possible," she said, "I want to go back to my department-store job, which I had to leave so hurriedly when I went to see Ken at Emerson, three weeks ago."

Until she joined her fiancé, the attractive, brown-eyed girl had been a model in the Highlands. As a lady's companion, she was one of Eileen's closest friends.

"But whether I work or not," she added, "I still have everything I've ever wanted."

Most surprised and pleased friend in Edmonton was Herbert Newman, Eileen's father, who had a daughter and his prospective son-in-law walked into his home Sunday night.

For Mr. Newman, his family's happiness is secure.

"We're over the big hurdle," he said, "and now my daughter is happy, so are her mother and I."

Gets First Lock In 20 Years

CASBY, Ill., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Chicago Tribune's weekly newspaper, has a new lock (not a key) for its front door. It is more than 20 years old.

The front door lock to the newspaper office was broken in 1928. The editor didn't get a new lock and the door was left unlocked night and day. The only things ever missed from the office is the newspaper since, was a newspaper, and new postal cards.

Now the newspaper has a new lock and a new key was installed. The Tribune Times was somewhat upset about the new lock. In a story this week, it said: "It isn't that we don't trust you. But we probably will use the lock now that we have it."

Coalition, CCF Row Over Manitoba Voting

MINNEDEGA, Man., Nov. 1.—(CP)—A two-way contest for the right to represent this riding in Manitoba's 53rd seat legislature has brought criticism of the provincial CCF party's policies.

The coalition candidate is R. R. Rungay. He is opposed by Ralph Frith, CCF standing bearer in tomorrow's by-election. The resignation of Dr. E. J. Rutledge, who long had represented the riding as a Progressive Conservative, necessitated the by-election.

Premier Stuart Garson has charged the CCF with opposing policies which they had themselves approved before they broke down coalition in 1942. The CCF has 10 members in the house.

Mr. Garson said that in the 1941 provincial election all CCF candidates were elected as government supporters, and that when in 1942 they withdrew from the government, they betrayed the mandate which they had received from the people two years before.

In speaking in support of Mr. Rungay, Mr. Garson said there was no split in CCF accusations that the coalition government was a "tool of the big interests."

CITES ADVANCES
He cited health, rehabilitation and conservation legislation, the financial benefits of the province's agreement with the federal government and the large highway program as examples of the strides made under coalition.

The nomination of Mr. Rungay, a Liberal-Progressive, created a flurry among Progressive Conservatives on the ground it disclosed an unwritten agreement.

Previously each of these parties had adopted a "hands-off-the-other-fellow's-preservers" attitude in such cases. This would have called for a Progressive Conservative only to continue the seat for the coalition since a member of the party had been the previous holder of the seat.

In the 1942 provincial election Dr. Rutledge polled 2,639 votes and Mr. Frith 1,620.

The house standing now is Progressive Conservatives 25, Liberal-Progressives 25, Independent Social Credit 2, CCF 10, Independent Progressive Conservative 1, Labor-Progressive 1, vacant 1.

Election Is Seen For October, 1949

Federal Vote Predicted For Next Fall by Experts

By John Leblanc

OTTAWA, Nov. 1.—(CP)—The capital's wise money is going on October, 1949, for Canada's next general election.

Despite some predictions that the government will play out its full string into the summer of 1950, most informed opinion here leans away from this view.

At the moment, the question is in the realm of pure speculation, since the cabinet hasn't even discussed it yet. But the political weather-casters point to next fall, though the winds may have shifted considerably by the time it rolls around.

MANY FACTORS

It will depend on Mr. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, who will be taking over in November as prime minister, plus such factors as results of any by-election tests in the meantime and reaction to the government's expected tax-cutting budget of next spring.

Those who suggest a 1950 election base their thinking on the idea that Mr. St. Laurent will want as long a tenure as he can get as prime minister before going to the country. He will want, they say, to get the electorate accustomed to the idea of a St. Laurent government.

On the other hand, there is the consideration that it is not considered good strategy to let a government term run its full course in peacetime, unless there are compelling reasons. The opposition can play on the thought that the government is afraid to go to the people at the end of the traditional four-year period.

HINT BY GARDINER

The government's own political craftsman, Agriculture Minister Gardiner, is betting against 1950. It's his to go, he told former Liberal last week, that the polling will be "long before" 1950.

Mr. Gardiner may just have been reassuring.

That, say the experts, would appear to rule out an election immediately after the close of the session, which probably will be about June.

SUMMER POOR TIME
From late June until mid-September is considered a poor time to call an election, since farmers are busy at harvest, so the guess is it will go over to October. That would dispose of it before the onset of cold weather.

The last general election was held June 11, 1945. The current standing in the Commons is: Liberals, 44; Progressive Conservatives, 66; CCF, 32; Social Credit, 13; others, eight; vacant, two.

New Soviet Auto Is Put On Market

MOSCOW, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Russia's new Pobeda passenger automobile was put on sale to the general public Saturday in a new automobile store that opened here.

The Pobeda is a small four-door sedan powered by a four-cylinder engine and has a neat, original appearance.

In Women's dresses, coats and suits, the figure climbed from $7,100,000 to $8,880,000; in millinery it also climbed from $913,000 to $1,042,000.

Household furnishings were responsible for some of the biggest gains. Household appliances and electrical supplies climbed from $2,548,000 to $2,971,000; hardware and kitchen utensils from $2,478,000 to $2,846,000.

Sales today reported a five per cent gain in department stores since last September, 1947.

However, in men's and boys' clothing there was a drop from $8,796,000 to $8,363,000.

OFFERS TO PAY PRANK COSTS

REGINA, Nov. 1.—(CP)—Conservative trouble has smitten a former North Battleford, Sask., youth now living in Vancouver.

He wants to make amends for a few of his prank pranks.

In a letter to the Saskatchewan power commission, he said he at one time had broken several power-line insulators plus the old street light.

"I was rather young at the time," the letter read, "but now seeing my error, I wish to straighten things out."

"So if you will kindly send me a bill . . . I will be glad to settle things up."

Silver Holloware Sells at Low Price

By Bea Thrifty

One can't help noticing the heaps and reams of silver-plated hollow ware filling store shelves these days. And you can't help noticing the constant sales... the difficulty they seem to have in getting rid of this ware. Not because it isn't lovely, serviceable... but because it is a luxury these austere days.

When most of us find it difficult to stretch the budget around the bare essentials... there is too much buying of silver-plated ware.

WHY GROW OLD

Handicraft Hobbies Prevent Boredom

By Josephine Lowman

There is a rapidly growing interest in handicraft. People, especially women, have always loved to make beautiful things with their hands.

It may sound lovely to say that the simple act of learning to make lovely rugs or bags of jewelry helped many a life out of the boredom and revitalized it, but this is true. It has even saved interesting life for women who were bored that they were actually neurotics.

Wives of the people who do this kind of work think of it as a hobby, yet there are thousands of persons who make their entire living or part of it through handicraft. Some of them are well known, but many are not. They are people who are weavers or leatherworkers, ceramists or metal workers. Many of these businesses started as hobbies and were made commercial by popular demand. The large majority of handicraft work is carried on in homes.

Realized that there is something soothing to the soul, and body in creating a beautiful object, that hand art hobbies are popular because they employ and cultivate not only the hands but the mind and the heart and the imagination. I would like to see your attention to the fact that there is a little magazine which is devoted to the handicraft field.

It is constantly on the search for markets which will buy their work. It is harder to dress than directing you to centers of learning in your own handicraft field. I mention this because I receive so many letters from people who wish to know how they can market their work and others who want to know where they can learn such-and-such an art.

Most people find life enriched with a hobby and many women feel the need of adding to the family budget and thus relieving strain.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Parents Should Stress Advantages of Dryness

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Now that the nights are cooler there may be a reluctance on the part of the child to get out of the warm bed and to the toilet. A wet bed is the result and the mother is distraught.

Up to the third year, bedwetting is not to be considered abnormal. Ordinarily, when the child has achieved control in daytime the nighttime control follows in time.

It is impossible for all parents to go through the night without a trip to the bathroom and children are not to be taken to bed. It is well, at night, to see that the child is awake enough to walk by himself. Supporting a sleeping child may lead to a nervous breakdown. But it continues the habit of urinating while asleep. Then when the parent slips up in his attention a wet bed results.

Children make no effort to stay dry when the parent offers them the ready alibi that they can't help it. Instead, they should be told that anytime they want to stay dry they can. The constant reminder, "You must stay dry and they will."

The advantages of dryness-for themselves not the parent-should be stressed. Being able to stay awake enough to walk by himself and welcome visitors and travellers and earn them the credit of "maturity." Too often they may conclude that all their dryness accomplishments is to save their mother extra work.

Bed wetting is often indicative of an unconscious protest against parental treatment which the child has not met on other method of combatting.

Children who are punished harshly by their parents are usually angry and other child and especially of a new baby, revert to their infantile habits. When the child feels no blame for what he does, because he is asleep, the act becomes a most forcible, revenge weapon.

Given attention at night, with constant encouragement and praise for improvement and provided no motivation for revenge, the child should be able to stay dry by the third year of life.

Our latest No. 38 "Bed Wetting" pamphlet, written by Mrs. Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

When you see, but if South does this contract will not be made after the troops are picked up and sent home. East will lead a diamond. West will win it with the king, and then come down you go.

Mrs. Eastwell refused to win the game of diamonds, and the best play East could make was to return a diamond. Mrs. Rockwell won the game with the ace, took two rounds of rummy, then played the jack of clubs. It lost to East's king, but she won there was no way to get West in the lead. She came through the heart. East made a good try. He played a club, but then Mrs. Rockwell was able to discard the ace and but of hearts on the two long clubs in dummy. Thus she lost only one heart trick.

Topperism is commonly used to disguise nauseous flavors of medicines.

REPORT TO MOTHERS

Why 88% of Mothers prefer Heinz Baby Foods

37% choose them for QUALITY
34% for NOURISHMENT
29% for FLAVOUR

Over three hundred mothers, questioned in a recent survey, voted almost 9 to 1 in favour of Heinz Baby Foods. They gave their reasons.

Many chose Heinz because of a doctor's recommendation... sure proof of safeguarded quality. Others chose Heinz Baby Foods for their newest babies because their older children had thrived on them. They knew from experience how nourishing these foods are. Still others chose Heinz Baby Foods themselves.

But whatever the reason, mothers are wise in their preference. Heinz Baby Foods are all that baby foods should be. All 25 varieties of Heinz Baby Foods—soups, meat products, vegetables, puddings and desserts—are carefully selected from the choicest, freshest foods. Then they are scientifically cooked to retain minerals and vitamins in high degree. When you look for baby foods, look for the Heinz label.
